Forecast for Tuesday 24 Nov 2020

Weather: A few outbreaks of drizzle or patchy light rain in the early hours but mainly dry by dawn but staying cloudy. Strong southwesterly winds with gales higher up on the peaks. Conditions likely to be drier with some cloud breaks on the eastern side of the Brecon Beacons, perhaps the odd sunny spell on the hills around Crickhowell in the afternoon.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 40% chance although there will be quite a lot of low cloud in the west and north around 400m with very few breaks, perhaps a 60% chance in the east with more clearance in the afternoon.

Visibility: Mostly good, perhaps moderate in the north where there may be patchy rain from time to time.
